A car load of anthracite coal has been received at the White House. The barons probably sent it to keep Teddy in good humor.

Three of the Massachusetts Republican canditates for Congress are out for "free raw materials." They are beginning to make mighty free with the Dingley tariff up there.

In Georgia much interest is being shown in the protection of the birds of that State. An Atlanta lady has secured a promise from 3,000 of the best women of the State not to use bird feathers as millinery ornaments.

A Boston jury has rendered a verdict of $12,000 against an automobile man for scaring a horse. If that's the way Boston juries do, the automobile scorchers had better confine themselves to running over people.

The marrying business is so depressed in the town of Hammond, Ind., that the Mayor by way of encouragement offers to tie the knot in his best style "free, gratis and for nothing." But even this has not proved to be a gilded inducement.

There are four or five large electric power generating plants on Niagara Falls, and several smaller ones, the combined power amounting to about 500,000 horsepower. Two of the largest plants are on the Canadian side.

Mark Hanna rises to remark that "if there are any trusts in this country they will be taken care of when the proper time comes," which means, you people who are clamoring against trusts, subside. We and the trusts understand each other and know our business.

There is a farmer in Forsyth county, N. C., who has never been in a circus, never worn cotton socks nor store clothes. He says his wife supplies him with all these things. Lucky man who has a wife who is a circus, sock-knitter and tailoress combined.

A Wisconsin man asserts that there is as much heat in the peat of that State as there is in Pennsylvania coal. If so, why are they not getting it out before the strike peters out? Sensible people wouldn't let a good thing like that stay in the ground long.

MR. FRANK DANIELS TO-NIGHT

Advance Sale Phenomenally Large and a Tremendous Audience Assured—Coming on a Special Train.

In "Miss Simplicity," the new operatic comedy in which Frank Daniels appeared with such great success at the New York Casino for several months last season and in which he comes to the Academy to-night, this comic opera star carries by far the biggest and most evenly balanced company that has ever accompanied him in any of his productions. The chorus, too, is said to be a strong feature of the organization both as to numbers and beauty; and reports from New York are to the effect that the front row seats and boxes were at a premium during the entire run at the Casino.

Frank Daniels sings some decidedly funny songs in this new musical comedy hit. Last winter with this piece Mr. Daniels enjoyed one of the most successful runs of the season in New York at the Casino, and these funny songs of his, with their catchy airs, set the whole town not only to whistling but to laughing as well. Among the best of the songs that fall to his lot in "Miss Simplicity" are "Don't Mind Me," "Bobby, the Sunday School Boy," "The Chestnutty Language of Lovers" and "The Interrogative Girl."

The advance sale of seats yesterday for this magnificent production was the largest of the season by far and nothing short of a "standing-room-only" house will be played to to-night.

The company will arrive this morning from Norfolk, having left that city last night on a special train for Rocky Mount, so as to connect with the morning schedule to Willmington.

Meeting This Afternoon to Take Action in Tobacco Warehouse Movement.

A general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held this afternoon to receive the report of Messrs. Worth and Gaylord upon the result of their isl. to investigate the tobacco situation at several points in the State, with a view of introducing the industry here. President Chadbourn, of the Chamber, called a meeting of the Executive Committee and the Committee on Industrial Enterprises yesterday and at a joint session of the two, it was decided to call the general meeting to day,

At the meeting yesterday were President Chadbourn, Secretary Kyle and Messrs. J. A. Arringdale, S. P. McNair, L. B. Rogers and G. J. Boney, of the Executive Committee, and Messrs. Jacobi, W. E. Worth, Geo. O Gaylord and C. C. Chadbourn, of the Industrial Committee.

GLENN'S FINE SPEECH.

Heard by Enthusiastic Assemblage of Voters in Court House Last Night.

AN APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

State and National Issues Discussed in an Able, Fearless and Convincing Manner--Eloquence and Pathos; Wit and Wisdom—Notes

While the audience which heard Hon. R. B. Glenn in the Court House last night was not the largest, to one who saw the moments when the crowd lingered upon his words, when his hearers were spellbound with his logic and the next moment perhaps convulsed with laughter at one of his roaring campaign jokes, pointedly illustrating a fact—to one who saw and felt all these things, there can be no doubt of the success or enthusiasm of the meeting. Mr. Glenn spoke for a little more than two hours and he had the undivided attention of those under the sound of his voice.

County Chairman Geo. L. Peschau called the meeting to order and good humoredly stated that to his "eccentric" friend George Rountree had been delegated the honor of presenting the speaker of the evening. Mr. Rountree said he was fully persuaded that there is no community on earth so hard to arouse as this one, but he said he was equally as persuaded that, once in action, they are absolutely irresistible as was shown in the campaigns of '98 and 1900. Hence he said it was, that the people on the great watch tower of Democracy were putting forth extreme efforts to get them aroused by sending some of the very best expounders of Democratic doctrine to these parts. When the State had been in danger, Mr. Rountree said, the strident but persuasive voice of the hardy Bob Glenn had always been heard above the din. Mr. Rountree then recited the circumstances of the patriotic withdrawal of Mr. Glenn from the Senatorial race and presented him as the "best campaigner in the State of North Carolina."

Mr. Glenn thanked Mr. Rountree for what he had said, but ended that it was undeserved. He also spoke of his aspiration to and withdrawal from the race for the United States Senate and paid an eloquent tribute to his fellow townsman, Hon. C. B. Watson, in whose favor he retired. He said he rose above self on that occasion and came to the people of Wilmington as an humble citizen, speaking in behalf of themselves, their families and commonwealth. He was not a "Democrat for revenue only" and expected to live and be buried a Democrat, because he knew of no better way of serving his country and his God than by helping to keep in power the Anglo-Saxons of North Carolina.

The first hour of Mr. Glenn's speech was devoted to State issues and that part of it was eloquent, inspiring and straight from the heart. He said there was but one issue in North Carolina this campaign. It was Jeter C. Pritchard. Pritchard is the Republican party in North Carolina and the Republican party is Pritchard. Every county officer that is put up first has to have his nomination go before the "boss," then it is ratified in convention. He made and unmade candidates as he saw fit. "It is the game of Simon says wiggle-waggle," he said, "only it is Jeter says wiggle-waggle and down come Cooke and Furches; wiggle-waggle again and up goes Hill; wiggle-waggle once more and up goes Lindsay Paterson and down comes Petree. In Western North Carolina in Republican ranks it is now 'Marse Jeter' and not Pritchard or Senator Pritchard. Thank God, I belong to no such party, but to one whose nominations are made by the people in convention assembled."

Pritchard had drawn for an issue in North Carolina a comparison of administration of affairs and the speaker accepted it. He said he would empanel those before him as a jury and begged them to hear the testimony. "Hear it, Anglo-Saxons," said Mr. Glenn, "and when you make up your verdict I'll not be hiding around this Court House, fearing the result of it."

He said he would not go back before the war but he pathetically told the story of the laying down of Confederate arms at Appomattox and then graphically pictured the days of reconstruction and the attitude of the Republican party to a devasted State. White men disfranchised and negroes enfranchised. There was no law and order and misrule ran riot, culminating in the saturnalia when drunken Fusion legislators clasping hands and in their revels danced about legislative halls singing "Sally's in the garden sifting sand."

Then he pictured the return of the Democracy to power under the lamented Vance; told how the State the first year spent $174,000 for education; the next year $256,000 for the same purpose, while the tax rate was reduced frem 86 to 37 cents and on down to 21 cents, and now we are spending $1,200,000 for schools. The Democrats built hundreds of miles of railway; erected schools and asylums for the insane; provided pensions for Confederates, etc., until we then and now have the strongest, the best State south of the Mason and Dixon line and it was made so by the Democratic party.

The speaker next traced the history of the formation of the Populist party and the drifting of the Ship of State into the hands of the fusionists "The white flag, I say it with shame, toted and fell and hoisted aloft was the black insignia," dramatically exclaimed Mr. Glenn.

Further contrasting the State administrations it was shown that under the Democrats never had there been a single blot upon the men who held office, while under the fusionists we had the Hancock scandal, the Dr. Babb scandal, the Kirby Smith scandal, the Jim Young scandal, the Wm. H. Martin theft, negro magistrates innumerable, negro solicitors, negro congressmen, etc. etc. ad nauseam. With applause he then compared Aycock to Vance in the former's leadership of the fight to redeem the State and declared that redemption is now forever.

Coming to the Constitutional-Amendment he said it was the greatest pride of his life that he had taken part in its preparation. In speaking of the words of the Republicans who asked if Democratic speakers were not going to stop talking about the "nigger." he said, "yes, when Republicans say plainly that they accept the amendment as constitutional." He declared amidst great applause that he would never be satisfied till the damnable 14 and 15th amendments, made to humiliate the South, was wiped off the National statutes. He said he was told he must not discuss the "nigger." "Not very much but a little," said Mr. Glenn; "on my own personal account." He then told of instances of social equality he had seen the past Summer in the North. White men were walking with negro women and vice versa. He saw them eating in the same restaurants; saw them bathing together; playing baseball together and white and negro children side by side in the schools. He wound up with great applause by referring to the Booker Washington dinner at the White House. He eulogized the Anglo-Saxon race and said he thanked God he was an Anglo Saxon and a Democrat because that party was pledged to keep the race in power.

He next entered into a brilliant defence of the State expenditures and scored Pritchard for his wanton inconsistencies and false claims. His deserters' pension bill was violently attacked and his other public record fully aired, notably his vote on the ship subsidy bill, the West Point appropriation, etc.

The last half of Mr. Glenn's speech was devoted to an able discussion of the tariff and the trusts, with a final and earnest appeal to Democrats to remain steadfast, not divide, and by all means to register. He said that he had been coming to the East for twelve years and he came this time to tell the people here that the West needed them and needed them badly. In speaking of the tariff he showed its inequality as applied by the Republican party and hooted at some of the infant industries that wanted protection. Some of the babies, said Mr. Glenn, have grown so large that when you spank one of them, you can hear him holler from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Referring to the sale of American manufactured goods across the ocean cheaper than they are sold to home consumers, he said it was "a shame, a dirty measley shame," according to the popular song. In discussing the tariff he disclaimed hostility of the Democrats to corporations or organized labor but said they must not be prohibitory to other legitimate enterprises.

The prosperity issue of the Republicans was hooted at, so far as they were responsible for it, and the coal strike was thrown up to the administration as well as the thirty million dollars turned loose illegally in Wall street the other day to save the Republicans a panic on their hands. Prosperity, declared the speaker, has come, if at all, at the hands of Providence and in spite of Republican legislation.

Mr. Glenn's closing appeal was earnest and eloquent. He was warmly congratulatd after the speaking by many who crowded about him to shake his had. Mr. Glenn goes to Fayetteville to-day; then to Red Springs and Lumberton.

DAY'S NEWS ON THE WHARF.

Cotton Declining and Receipts Failing Off.

Steamer Richmond Slightly Aground.

Cotton receipts are rapidly falling behind those of corresponding days last year. Yesterday, for instance, the receipts were but 2,928 bales against 3,031 bales same day in 1901. The price, too, is declining. Yesterday the local quotations were on a basis of only 8¼ cents for middling.

The British steamer Osborne, 2,796 tons, the largest tramp of the season, arrived yesterday for a cargo of cotton from Messrs. Sprunt & Son. She came from Philadelphia and is in charge of Capt. Rettie.

The Clyde Line steamer Richmond, 1,101 tons, Capt. Cathryne, arrived yesterday from New York in place of the Saginaw, but in proceeding up the river at 8 A. M. she went aground four miles from the city. The tug Marion went to her assistance late yesterday afternoon and she expected to float and proceed up to Wilmington last evening.

Mr. Walker W. Vick Married.

The numerous friends of Mr. Walker W. Vick, an old Wilmington boy, will be interested in the announcement that yesterday noon he married Miss Sadie Plunkett, an accomplished young lady of New York city, and a niece of State Senator Henry Plunkett, of New York. The ceremony was very quiet on account of the groom's late bereavement in the death of his brother. Mr. Vick holds the responsible position of cashier for the large Detmar Woolen Mills, of New York city, and the popular young people will continue to reside in the metropolis.

ODDS AND ENDS DAY.

Superior Court Yesterday Transacted Very Little Business of General Interest.

THE HULLEN-CITY VERDICT.

May Be a New Trial and Perhaps a Setting Aside of the Verdict--Municipal Tangle Over "Black Maria." Other Routine Proceedings.

Yesterday was odds and ends day in the Superior Court and very little of public interest was transacted.

In the morning there was a motion by plaintiff for a new trial in the case of Meta H. Hullen against the City of Wilmington but Judge Bryan said he would take the matter under consideration. It is also learned that the attorneys for the city will make a motion to set aside the verdict upon the ground of the jury's having found contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff and in the next issue having given her judgment against the city. However, nothing was done in the court yesterday.

The morning session was principally taken up with a trial of the case of the S. P. Cowan Livery Co. vs. City of Wilmington, in which the plaintiff seeks to compel payment for the police patrol wagon purchased by the Board of Aldermen a little over a year ago. The Board of Audit and Finance refused to approve the bill for payment on the ground that the purchase by the Aldermen was irregular. The suit brings on a clash as to the authority of the two co-ordinate boards of the city government and is therefore being watched with interest. The Board of Aldermen and the Board of Audit and Finance are represented in the court by City Attorney Bellamy and the latter board has employed ex-Judge E. K. Bryan as special counsel to resist payment. Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy appear for the plaintiff.

After all the evidence was in yesterday morning Judge Bryan intimated that the plaintiff could not recover, whereupon plaintiff's attorneys suffered a non-suit and appealed to the Supreme Court. Notice of appeal was waived; the bond fixed at $25 and the plaintiff was given until December 1st to file statement of case on appeal, and defendant 40 days thereafter to file counter statement, but later the entry as to appeal was stricken out on the Clerk's record and some agreement between the attorneys will likely be reached later. In the meantime it looks like a victory for the Board of Audit and Finance.

The jury before which the case was heard yesterday was composed of T. B. Kingsbury, E. P. Owens, Geo. W. Rogers, Jno. H. Strauss, T. W. Wood, H. M. Mason, Matt J. Heyer, A. B. Brower, B. M. Leheu, W. D. McGrew, M. Marshburn and J. S. King.

The damage suit of J. W. Holmes against Drs. W. J. and L. H. Love was not taken up for trial yesterday as was expected but was continued for plaintiff until next term. Unimportant cases were disposed of during the morning as follows:

Joseph H. Walters vs. M. W. Hedgepeth and W. A. Hedgepeth; judgment for principal and interest amounting to $570.21.

P. Cumming vs. W. J. Reaves et. al., confirmation of sale.

Henry Whitted et. al., vs. C. H. Thomas et. al., judgment for plaintiff.

Following divorces were granted: Andrew Brown vs. Dinah Brown; Rachael R. Lamb vs. Perry Lamb; Andrew Williams vs. Tenah Williams.

The following talesmen were ordered summoned for to-day: Thos. J. Torpy, A. H. Paddison, C. H. Schulken, Jno. H. McDongal, H. Gerdis and W. F. Davis.

SAILOR'S BODY NOT FOUND

Unfortunate White Man Who Fell Overboard at Compress Tuesday Night.

The body of George Barham, ship's carpenter on the steamer Acacia, who fell overboard and was drowned at the wharves of the Champion Compress Tuesday night, was not found yesterday, but to-day the steamer will be moved and Larry Lowe, the colored expert, with grappling hooks, will make another trial. His efforts yesterday were fruitless.

The unfortunate man had been ashore Tuesday night and returned to the ship intoxicated. While climbing the ladder over the side of the steamer he made a misstep and fell headlong, striking his head on the wharf and tumbling into the river. Captain Burris, the night watchman, and a policeman who had brought the sailor to the dock, heard the fall and ran up just in time to see him go under. They say he must have been stunned by the fall, as he uttered no sound or came up a single time.

SOLID WEEK OF REPERTOIRE.

Grahame-Goodwin Company Opens Engagement Here Monday Night.

Regarding the opening performance of the Grahame-Goodwin Comedy Co., which will be at the Academy here all next week, the Charlotte Observer of Tuesday has this to say:

"A large audience witnessed the presentation of "A Pair of Black Eyes" by the Grahame-Goodwin Company at the Opera House last night, and the play provoked continuous applause. The company is a popular-priced organization, and has a hard-working, capable cast. The specialities were much applauded; and "Baby Edna," who starred between acts, is the winsomest and most talented little maiden that has appeared on a local stage in a long time."

PYTHIAN CARNIVAL NOTES.

Music and Executive Committees Met Last Night—Four Bands for the Week--Encouraging Reports.

A meeting of the Pythian Carnival Executive Committee was held last night, with a full attendance. The Music Committee also met. Hollowbush's and the Second Regiment bands will furnish music during Carnival week; also, two bands will accompany the attractions that are coming, making a grand total of four bands, with upwards of fifty pieces. With this aggregation the public can count on "music to beat the band."

Encouraging reports are coming in from all over the territory and the visitors here during the Carnival will be many, and all are assured a "high old time." The Advertising Committee is certainly doing things right. From 3,000 to 5,000 posters of the Carnival have been mailed from headquarters direct to individuals throughout the territory.

Letters from advertising men over the road report tremendous crowds coming; also, the travelling salesmen from this city say thousands will be here.

Contributions to the country store are coming in lively.

A list of the subscribers to the Carnival fund will be published Sunday.

The Executive Committee meets again Monday night.

SOME FINE BAREBACK RIDING.

No Less Than Twenty-three Professionals With Forepaugh & Sells Brothers.

No less than the twenty-three bareback champions of the entire world are with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' consolidated shows this year. As a matter of fact there are no other riders worthy of the name in this country. These shows are in a measure playing the dog-in-the-manger policy toward the other shows in regard to riders. One-third of the number they have would be more than any other show has ever had before, but they simply will not let the other shows have any one of these champion riders. It certainly makes these shows the most astounding exhibition of equestrianism the world has ever seen without indulging in any of the ordinary circus exaggeration. They will all be seen with the shows exhibited here on next Monday, Oct. 20th.

— There will be a total eclipse of the moon to-night. The moon will enter the shadow at 11.17 P. M., the total eclipse being at 12.19 A. M. It will be visible throughout the United States.

TRUSTS IN GERMANY.

The defenders of the Trusts in this country tell us that there are trusts in every country, and that there were trusts centuries ago. When they talk that way they simply mean that there are business combinations in every country, and that business combinations existed centuries ago, both of which are doubtless true. But these are not the kind of trusts which are now attracting attention in this country and are beginning to attract attention in some other countries.

There are only two countries in the world which have trusts that bear any resemblance to the trusts as we have them. These countries are Russia and Germany, both tariff protection countries. The trust defenders say free trade England has them too, but the organizations which they call trusts in England are quite different from our trusts. They have manufacturing combinations in England the object of which is by concentration of capital and management, to cheapen production, so as to compete with the manufacturers of other countries, which ship their manufactures to English markets free of tariff duties. But in order to hold their home trade they must sell cheaper in the home market than their competitors do and therefore they cannot run prices up, for when they do they lose trade and their competitors get it. That's the protection the British consumers have in the home market, and that's why the British so-called trusts cannot take advantage of them as our trusts take advantage of the home purchaser, while dealing fairly and squarely by the foreign purchaser. If the British so-called trusts were protected by a high and practically prohibitory tariff they might do as our trusts do and put prices up to suit themselves, but as they are not, and must meet competition, they are forced to keep their prices down to the competition mark.

That's the difference, and a very radical difference, between the so-called British trust and the American trust. One makes prices low to meet competition; the other puts prices up because it is protected from competition by favoring legislation, which bars out competition.

But in Russia and in Germany it is different for in both of these countries trust are fostered and protected by high tariffs and by export bounties, the latter of which enable them to manufactureand to sell goods in foreign countries, sometimes at a price less than the cost of production. This has made combination in England necessary to meet this kind of competition. In Germany the trusts are becoming a subject of discussion pro and con, two elements especially taking part in it, one representing the industrial and commercial classes the other the Agrrians. There is a conflict between these, both of which have protection and both of which want more. At a recent meeting of an industrial association in Berlin the following declaration as to trusts was adopted:

"The bund seas in trusts a natural step in the development of industry. They appear to be called on to adapt production to demand and to prevent useless competition, which is usually accompanied by the deterioration of commodities.

"Their economic advantages, therefore, cannot be denied so long as they do not tend to injure the consumers dependent upon them and so far as they regulate production with a view to the maintenance of fair prices, diminish the cost of production and improve methods of industry.

"As regards industries, however, which are working on raw materials and which are at the mercy of trusts in raw stuffs, the producers see in the present overgrowth of the latter an evil calling for measures which will assure an economic counterpoise."

This refers to what are called the good, the "beneficent" trusts in this country, those considerate combines organized for the purpose of reducing the cost of production, and cheapening the price to the consumer, combinations which are "as few and far between as angels visits." If they did that and stuck to it, and gave the consumers the benefit of their better and cheaper methods, there would be less objection to them, although they would not be entirely free from objection then.

But there seems to be a conflict between the Industrials with their trusts, and the Agrarians with their trusts; with the Industrials the industrial trust is all right, but the Agrarian trust, by the fellows who control the raw materials which the manufacturers need, is all wrong. The Agrarians think it is all right and insist upon still higher tariff duties so that they may get a tighter grip on the raw materials.

That's where the selfishness of each comes into play, the manufacturers favoring the high tariff which protects them, while demanding cheap raw materials. The controllers of the raw materials demand cheaper manufactures, while insisting on more protection for the raw materials, just as some of our protected manufacturers, while enjoying the benefits of protection on their manufactures, clamor for free raw materials, against which the fellows who control the raw materials protest, all of which shows that there is a good deal of selfishness in average human nature, on whatever side of the ocean it may be or whatever language it may speak.

There is one class of people who do not figure in this business and are not considered at all, either by the Industrials or by the Agrarians. This is the great mass of the German people who are neither manufacturers nor exporters nor Agrarians, people who live by wage earning, are dependent upon their daily earnings, and have to buy from day to day the necessaries of life. These constitute the bulk of the German people, as they do the bulk of the population of all countries, and it is these who are taxed for the benefit of the trusts which control manufactures and the Agrarians who control the raw materials which the manufacturers use. This is the class that is not considered and yet it is this class the enforced tributes upon which go to enrich both the protected interests of which we speak, just as the masses in this country are forced to pay tribute to the trusts which control manufactures and the trusts which control the raw materials. It is a selfish game of plunder on both sides of the ocean, by which the few are benefited and the many robbed.

"LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE."

We are not in the habit of quoting Hon. Mark Hanna as a teacher, but this quotation from him is an apt injunction to the people of North Carolina who are appealed to by Republican speakers to reject Democratic government and put power in the hands of the Republicans, and their allies, under various deceptive names. When they make these appeals they not only admit but declare that North Carolina is prospering as she never prospered before. They claim, of course, but it is a fraudulent claim, that this prosperity is the outcome of Republican national politics, but no national politics could bring and keep prosperity with us if the State were badly governed, and if captalists and business men did not have confidence in the government.

In all their declamation and partisan railing they have not tried to gainsay that fact, or dared to make any charge of bad government, of oppressive government, of maladministration, of dishonesty, or of any other dereliction on the part of the Democrats entrusted with the charge of public affairs. We have had honest, clean government, something the Republicans, and the allies they acted with, never gave us, and the State has been in Democratic control long enough, since the Republican plunderers were first overthrown, to give the people ample proof of that.

"A burnt child dreads the fire" and it would be inconceivable that the thinking, intelligent, sensible people of North Carolina after their experience with Republican rule and Fusion rule should at the solicitation of Republican spellbinders, and hungry office hunters, permit themselves to be cajoled or dragged into the fire again.

There is, in our estimation, not the slightest danger of their being either cajoled or dragged. There is but one danger, and that is in the indifference begotten of over-confidence, which may keep Democratic voters from the polls while the revenue gangs throughout the State, and other strikers of Candidate Pritchard and his "independent" associates will travel the highways and the byways to poll every vote they can against the Democratic party. They will work. We must remember that.

IT SHELTERS THE TRUSTS.

We made reference a few days ago to the speech made by Governor Cummins, of Iowa, in Chicago, in which he interpreted and defended the Iowa declaration as to tariff revision and the trusts. The language of the Des Moines platform is vague, it promises to do something in the future if that something prove to be advisable, to reduce the tariff when it has become apparent that it is too high, and to cut down the protection given to the trusts if it appears that this protection "shelters" them and enables them to discriminate against the American people in the matter of prices.

That was the language of politicians catering to public sentiment and trying to placate the restive people who were demanding tariff reduction and protection from the extortionate demands of the trusts. It was a promise intended for election purposes, and one which they could not be afterwards accused of violating because it was conditional, promised nothing definitely, and permitted the promisers to use their own discretion and to take their own time in keeping it—if they ever concluded to keep it.

Governor Cummins was one of the original movers among the Republicans of that State for tariff reduction and for protection from the trusts. He doesn't believe that tariff revision is something that may be attended to at leisure in the future, but should be attended to promptly and without unnecessary delay, nor does he believe that the trusts do not use the protection they have as a means of extorting high prices from American consumers, in other words that the tariff does not, (to quote the Iowa platform phraseology) "shelter" trusts. In the speech to which we have referred, delivered in Chicago, he said:

"I speak but the sober truth when I say that now, with a full demand at home, the producer can and does use excessive duties as a weapon to enforce more than a reasonable price for the things he produces. Protection will stand as a shield for honest labor and a mine for lawful profit, but it shall not be used as a sword for industrial piracy or as a mint for illegal gain."

This is talking more to the point and more like the man who honestly means to do something which he thinks should be done, than the people placating politicians in Iowa who tried to humbug the voters with vague, unmeaning declarations that they might never stand by unless driven to it by popular sentiment, as they were driven when they adopted the declarations.

Nicaragua may be a good country for revoluters, but it doesn't encourage the loafer much. A late law defines "a laborer" as any person, male or female, who has less than $100. That same law provides that every laborer must have an employer, and if he or she hasn't, he or she is seized by the cops, imprisoned for twenty days and put to work for the State until an employer shows up.

Secretary Moody, who is a Boston man, has become moody over the refusal of the coal barons to end the strike and open the mines. In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the other day, he declared that the duty of 67 cents a ton was what was making them so saucy and that it should be repealed without ceremony. That's what a good many of us thought a good while ago.

A New Jersey woman wants a divorce because her husband persists in throwing chestnut jokes at his mother-in-law, old mother-in-law gags, and kicks his bull dog because the bull dog will not bite that mother-in-law. She is entitled to a divorce and so is the bull dog. Such a freak isn't fit to associate with a mother-in-law nor with a bull dog.

The question "what becomes of all the pins" has never been satisfactorily answered. And now some one, in view of the fact that the factories in this country turn out 8,000 watches a day, wants to know what becomes of all the watches. A good many of those that are made these days become a nuisance in a little while.

The gentleman who performs as Sultan of Bacolad, in the island of Mindanao, informs Gen. Sumner that he is not only willing for a scrap, but hankering for it. The religion of Mohammed must be preserved if he has to spear and bolo every fellow who comes his way with American clothes on. Gen. Sumner considers him a very saucy and insultin' sort of Sultan.

— Lumberton Robesonian: Mr. J. W. He wants their co-operation and if he can secure it is willing to furnish part of the capital necessary to establish the plant.

— Winston Sentinel: News is received here that Mr. Isaac Hobson, who was employed at the steam distillery of Carrol Davis, at Conrad's, Yadkin county, was fatally scalded on Friday. He died on Saturday. It is learned that Hobson went to shut off the steam when the stil burst, throwing the boiling water all over him. He suffered intense pain and was in great agony until he died.

— Gastonia Gazette: The Loray sheetings have certainly captured the fancy of the Chinese trade. About six months ago we had the pleasure of mentioning this mill's first order of $100,000 worth for that market. Since that time the Loray has shipped $350,000 worth of goods, and has taken orders enough, besides, for the Chinese trade to keep the mill busy until the first of January. Their commission men find the Loray products so popular for export that they are offering the mill still further orders for the same class of goods.

— Raleigh News and Observer: Albert Combs, a white man, married, committed suicide Monday night near Goldsboro by throwing himself under an incoming passenger train on the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad. His head was severed from his body. —— "Mrs. Ellen Vannoy, of Nettle Knob, Ashe county, committed suicide last week. On last Thursday no one was left at the home but Mrs. Vannoy and her youngest son. She sent this boy to the store after some tobacco and while he was gone she made preparations to hang herself. Her son returned faom the store sooner than she expected and she kissed the boy and sent him off again. She then hung herself with a trace chain in a stable loft.,' — Fayetteville Observer: Amos Carter, one of the youthful stepsons of Larkin Bedsole, who was so badly wounded Sunday by his wife and her two sons, was brought to this city Monday night and committed to jail to await trial on the charge of an attempt to kill his stepfather, or, if the old man dies, that of murder. This boy, who is but 14 years of age, says that Bledsole was beating his mother when they made the combined attack on him. —— It is reported that Mr. E. W. Shedd, and the Northern capitalists who were in Fayetteville Saturday have purchased the Aberdeen & Rockfish railroad from Mr. John Blue. This road runs within nine miles of Fayetteville, its eastern terminus being at Currie's mill, and its western at Aberdeen. If this report is true, of course this road will be used as one of the links of the Central railroad of North Carolina, which is to be built from Concord to Fayetteville.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Preliminary to his effort at beating a sense of duty into the head of those mine operators, President Roosevelt had a choice between persuasion and a pickaxe as the best means for accomplishing his purpose. He chose the wrong weapon.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— The reason why soft coal is bringing $8.50 a ton wholesale here now, is because not enough to supply the demand is sent to market. The reason why not enough is sent to market is because the wholesalers can get $8.50 a ton for what they were pleased last Spring to sell for $2.50 a ton when the supply equalled the demand. In other words, they are holding back their stock that they may extort a swindling price for what they sell.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

—— The Rhode Island Republicans are still firmly wedded to the theories and practice of protection. But as they say in the platform which they adopted on Thursday, they "do not fail to recognize the fact that new or changed industrial conditions may naturally lead from time to time to a readjustment of tariff rates." This is, from a Republican point of view, both orthodox and rational doctrine. Will it not, however, send shivers down the backs of the Republican politicians who hold the Dingley schedules to be as fixed and immutable as the laws of the Medes and Persians? Are there no D. B. Hendersons in Rhode Island to denounce such teaching as "free trade poison?"—Washington Times, Rep.

IT MIGHT BE THIS.

The mystery surrounding the death of so much stock as a result of eating the dried cornstalks in the fields seems to be not yet solved. We venture to offer the following, which, while it may be far from solving the mystery, may still possibly point a way to its solution: It is a well established fact that second growth sorghum is a most deadly poison for stock which eat of it. There are instances where second growth corn—the shoots which spring up where the corn is cut off before the plant had arrived at maturity—produced the same deadly results. The why of this we do not know, for both sorghum and the corn are perfectly healthful foods when of normal growth. May it not be that the suspended growth and development of the corn in many fields last season owing to the drought and excessive heat, followed thirty days later by conditions which fostered a second growth, resulted in producing precisely the same toxic conditions which are associated with a second growth where the stalk was cut off? The phenomenon of a secondary pollenization of the cornfields, the result of this secondary growth during 1901, as a result of which seemingly worthless fields of corn were converted into most productive ones, was a very common one and familiar to all our readers through the corn belt. May not the fatalities among the stock be connected with this fact?

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The cotton market opened steady with prices unchanged to three points higher on covering and what appeared to be Wall street bull support, based solely upon reports of frost in northern Alabama, northern Mississippi and northern Georgia. The Liverpool cables were distinctly disappointing and the movement of the crop was large. Not long after the call there was a marked change in the temper of the market and early buyers turned sellers. The English market private cables were discouraging to longs here and the private news from the crop country told of no damage by the cold wave and splendid growing conditions over the entire southern half of the crop country. The late forecast promised warmer weather for the northern section. Wall street failed to support the Winter months to the extent expected and the South was a free seller. Before midday the market was weak and very feverish with prices well below the close of yesterday. Then came a slight and brief rally on room profit-taking, soon followed by more pronounced weakness than before. For the balance of the afternoon liquidation and bear pressure were prominent and the news on the whole was decidedly against improvement. Prices dropped point by point, with the close at about the bottom, a net loss of about six to ten points. The tone was barely steady. Total sales were estimated at 300,000. Clearances for export were large. New Orleans and Galveston were heavy sellers of the Winter and Spring months in the last hour and there were liberal sales made for European account as well.

RIGHT MILKING.

Certain Principles Must Be Understood and Closely Followed.

A matter of farm economy often overlooked is that of right milking. Anybody on the farm who can squeeze a stream of milk out of a cow's teat is set at the task. And those who do not know how, provided they are a part of the farm's working force, are made to learn. Milking is a chore not requiring much strength and on the ordinary farm considered as not requiring great skill. If the cows have any milk, the ordinary milker can get it. What more is asked?

When butter is sold for 12 cents per pound, there is no incentive to painstaking milking, but where milk or butter has become one of the farm's staple products care in milking is worth while. The large number of cows on some farms, to be sure, requires all the help available, but the youngsters and inexperienced men should be well taught before they become regular helpers.

The first principle of teaching should be cleanliness. A milker with clothes so grimy that particles of dirt and dust fall into the milk and whose hands could be benefited by soapsuds needs a lesson; ditto the person who sticks his fingers into the milk pail or milks on his hands so as to wet the cows' teats. In addition to cleanliness on the part of the milker care in thoroughly brushing off the cows' udders should be insisted upon and particular care that either through kicking, switching or otherwise none of the stable's filth gets into the milk. The best way to guard against such accidents is to have the stable clean.

After cleanliness comes efficiency. It includes good ways of holding the teat, rapidity and thoroughness of milking. The teat, if not too short, should be grasped with the whole hand, the index finger and thumb pressing, as the hand closes, a little more firmly than the lower fingers, thus forcing the milk downward instead of upward. Milking with the thumb and one or two fingers, slipping them down the teat, is to be condemned, since it is neither quicker nor easier than the whole hand way and calls for the filthy practice of wetting the teats. Thoroughness means getting the last and richest drop. It is necessary to milk dry, all dairymen know, if the cow is to be kept up with her milk. Rapidity of milking, unless it be violent, stimulates the milk flow.

Finally comes the treatment of the cow. It is of great importance, with the nervous cow perhaps of first importance. Singing of a boisterous kind, whistling, chattering, loud talking, to say nothing of rough handling, certainly does not make the cow more comfortable and therefore cannot be conducive to a full, steady flow of milk. And do not treat the cow to an indifferent milker every day and to irregular hours of milking. Because of mere changing about of milkers we have frequently noticed in herds of fifteen or twenty cows a decrease of 10 per cent in a day's milk. Let each cow become acquainted with her milker and let the milker stick by her.

All of these things—cleanliness, efficiency and careful treatment of the cow—are matters of economy, for if all the cow has is to be got from her and the product is to be marketed in first class style they must receive attention. They must be taught the new milkers. —Homestead.

POINTS ON FEEDING.

I have a silo I have filled for two years with pea vine ensilage, for which I have paid $2 per ton for what I have bought. All it has cost me is hauling the overplus from the factory, says Frank Lawler in American Agriculturist. I commence feeding twice a day. After milking I feed eight or ten pounds per cow. After they eat this I give them coarse fodder, what they will clean up. I gradually increase the mess of ensilage to twenty or twenty-five pounds per feeding. I give them all they will clean up after they get used to it, with hay or stalks at noon.

My experience has been two years' feeding with good results. When I change from ensilage to hay or cornstalks, I find the flow of milk decreases to some extent. To get the best results in feeding pea ensilage the grain ration should be two-thirds wheat bran, one-third gluten meal. I find my cows stay in good health and fine condition, with large flow of milk. I have a small dairy of seventeen graded Holstein cows. They are considered the leading dairy herd at the Canastota milk station, taking the number into consideration.

Make Silo Fit the Herd.

There is always a tendency to build big things, and even silos are not exempt from this failing, but a man should not build a forty cow silo for a ten cow herd, and especially he should not build a silo with such a large surface that his herd of cows cannot eat sufficient silage to uncover a new surface every day and thus save the silage from molding. If his herd and silo do not fit each other, there is not only a loss in spoiled silage, but also a tendency to feed an excessive amount of silage to save it. The following table shows the size of silo and the daily feeding surface required for herds of different sizes:

Number cows.	Feeding surface. Square feet.	Inside diameter of silo.
30	150	14.00
40	200	16.00
50	250	18.00
60	300	19.15
70	350	21.25
80	400	22.75
90	450	24.00
100	500	25.25

There is lots of rag chewing over the sugar tariff matter, but the consumer can depend upon the agitation finally resulting in bringing him nearer to the time when he will get twenty-six pounds of sugar for a dollar.

Along the last of March we get a few small boxes, fill them with earth and sow some celery, cabbage, peppers, tomatoes, pansies and other desirable things. Then in May we have a nice lot of strong plants to set out in the garden without having to buy or beg them from the neighbors.

The shortest crop the past year all through the west and northwest has been the crop of freight cars in which to ship to market the products of the farms. The productive capacity of the territory referred to has been developing much faster than have the transportation facilities. Double tracks on many of the main lines of road will be an absolute necessity before many years. We note that one road (the Pennsylvania system) has lately placed orders for new freight cars to the value of $10,000,000.

Timber tracts and groves of all sorts may be very greatly benefited by an intelligent and judicious thinning out and trimming up. Trees easily hamper each other's growth, and all weak and deformed specimens should be removed. A serious fault with nearly all artificial groves lies in the too thick planting of the trees, something which is not noticed when the trees are young, but which, if not corrected, may result in the ruin of the grove at a later period. Sunlight and air are absolutely indispensable to the vigorous and healthy growth of all forest and orchard trees.

REGISTERED SCRUBS.

Every man owning a registered herd of fine stock of any of the breeds will succeed in producing from them a certain per cent of registered scrubs. We are asked why this should be so. The improved types of cattle are very far removed by the process of selection from the original types and thus are purely artificial breeds. The law of reversion is very strong and always at work, and these scrubs are the product of that law, by the operation of which nature seeks to go back to the original type. No matter how faultless the pedigree of such an animal, it should never be used as a breeder if it is desired to keep up the excellencies of the improved type. Some breeders are mighty dishonest along this line and sell pedigrees and nothing else.

INCOME FROM BROWN LEGHORNS.

We give this story as it was given by a lady at a recent Iowa farmers' institute. She said that she had no children to look after and devoted all the time which she could spare from her housework to the care of 550 Brown Leghorn hens which she kept on a common farm homestead, running at large. She said that these hens brought her in an average income of $1.50 each, mostly from their egg product; that they were free from disease, that they went everywhere and because of them no attempt was made to raise vegetables, small fruits or flowers on the place. No incubator was used. The hens were fed liberally. This statement conflicts with the generally accepted theory that more than 150 or 200 hens cannot be kept on the farm homestead running at large.

CHEESE CURING IN COLD STORAGE.

No recent improvement in dairying methods bids fair to be of greater importance and value than that of curing cheese in cold storage. The cheese hurriedly cured in a temperature of 70 degrees or more and put on the market forty days old has long been the representative cheese made. At its best this cheese is soft, livery, indigestible and because of the heat in the curing room often sharp and off more or less in flavor. Under the new process the cheese may be taken direct from the press and placed in cold storage at a temperature of 40 to 44 degrees, and the cheese cures slowly and perfectly, developing none of that acrid, bitter and off flavor so common in cheese cured at the usual higher temperature. At the late cheesemakers' convention at Milwaukee, Wis., a cheese made last October and removed direct from the hoop to such cold storage was officially tested Jan. 8 and scored 44 flavor, 29¾ texture, 15 color and 9 makeup, falling short of absolute perfection only one point on flavor, one-fourth of a point on texture and a point on makeup. This improvement in methods is of far-reaching importance, for if a better quality of cheese is made much more of it will be consumed. Every cheesemaker should investigate this matter, for he will by this plan not only be able to be relieved from the necessity of forcing his thirty day product on the market at any price he can get, but will be able to take advantage of the markets and seasons and command a higher price for his better cured and flavored product.

BURGLARS ARRESTED AT LEXINGTON, KY.

One of the Two Men Confessed to the Killing of A. B. Chinn—Feeling Intense and Violence is Feared.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LEXINGTON, KY., October 15.—Earl Whitney, the young man arrested here last Saturday, charged with the murder of A. B. Chinn and with seriously wounding his son Asa, made a complete confession here to-day, admitting that he and Claude O'Brien, his pal, did the killing. Whitney said O'Brien fired the shot that killed Chinn and admitted that the shot in his knee was inflicted by Asa Chinn in the struggle that followed. He told where the pistol was hid. The officers went to the place and found the weapon. Whitney broke down under the questions of the officers. Colonel Roger Williams, on the order of Governor Beckham, has ordered two companies of the State militia to report at their armory here to protect the two prisoners. The feeling against the men is intense and violence is feared. The sheriff has sworn in thirty deputies.

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 15.—Earl Whitney and Claude O'Brien were landed in the county jail here at 9:30 o'clock to-night.

THE COAL OPERATORS.

Decline to Discuss the Strike Situation in Any Way.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The coal operators generally to-day were exceedingly averse to discussing the coal situation in any way. To most of those seen the question was put:

"Would you assent to a change in the personnel of the arbitration committee proposed to deal with the matters in dispute between the strikers and the operators?"

The answers of the various presidents may be summarized in the reply made by President Truesdale, of the Lackawanna, who said:

"I would consider it highly improper to talk about the matter at the present time."

Some dealers who were holding anthrocite yesterday at a certain price per ton, averaging about $18, to-day are asking bids for coal which they have been holding in reserve.

MOLINEUX'S SECOND TRIAL

For the Murder in New York City of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The second trial of Roland B. Molineux for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams was begun to day in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court before Justice John S. Lambert. The proceedings were marked by the unusual rapidity with which jurors were obtained, six talesmen having been accepted and sworn before the court adjourned. Immediately after the prisoner had been brought into court, General Molineux entered and seated himself by the side of his son. The prisoner was represented by former Governor Black, former District Attorney W. K. Olcott, Barlow S. Weeks and George Gordon Battle.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A dozen big rolls of greenbacks were found, according to District Attorney Jerome, in the safes of two of the five alleged gambling houses which were the scene of raids last night by order of the district attorney. "I understand that there is a great deal of money deposited each night by bookmakers in these places," said Mr. Jerome to-day, "but I do not know who owns the rolls. It will not be sufficient identification for a man to say 'that $10,000 roll is mine.'"

It has been ascertained that the total amount of money in the rolls found in the safes is about $250,000.

He made the motion that the prisoner be committed to a hospital to be brought to trial should he recover. The court directed that the Tombs physician examine Rose and make a report to him on the subject.

THE COAL STRIKE NOT YET SETTLED.

President Roosevelt and Mr Mitchell Trying to Reconcile Differences.

THE OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE.

Principal Obstacle is the Composition of the Proposed Commission--The President Seeking to Secure Further Concessions of Operators.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, October 15.—The prolonged anthracite coal strike is not yet practically settled, but some progress was made to-day, and while there remain certain obstacles to be removed, these, in the language of Secretary Root, it is believed, can be resolved and a termination of the strike finally secured. The principal of these obstacles is the composition of the proposed commission or board to arbitrate the differences between the miners and operators.

Mr. Mitchell indicated formally to-day to President Roosevelt that the Mine Workers' Union dissents from the restrictions placed by the operators on the choice of the proposed arbitration tribunal and desires the President to have an absolutely free hand in the selection of members of the commission to be charged with an adjustment of future relations between the employers and employed. He laid special stress in stating his objections to the proposition that one of the commission should be a judge from the eastern district of Pennsylvania. He was very insistent in some of his objections, which he voiced in what might be termed a counter proposition to that of the operators.

A Miners Meeting.

After the President and the head of the miners' union had exchanged views freely and gone over this counter proposition of Mr. Mitchell's, a call was sent out by President Mitchell for a joint meeting to-morrow of the executive boards of the Mine Workers' Union for the three anthracite districts of Pennsylvania. At this meeting it is believed an agreement will be reached on a statement to be officially promulgated by the miners' union in response to the proposition from the operators.

President Roosevelt having ascertained the views of Mr. Mitchell, at once communicated with the operators and initiated efforts to reconcile the differences developed and to have the operators make some further concessions, his aim being by mutual concessions to reach a common accord between miners and operators whereby the labor dispute may be finally composed and mining of coal resumed.

Expectod Conferences.

The progress made to-day was accomplished by means chiefly of two extended conferences between President Roosevelt and John Mitchell, the president of the United Mine Workers of America.

At the conclusion of the conferences Mr. Mitchell said that he had no information which he could give to the public. It was announced, likewise, at the temporary White House, that no official statement of the conferences would be made at this time.

When the last conference had been concluded, Mr. Mitchell left the White House, and after a brief conference with President Sam'l Gompers departed for Wilkesbarre, Pa. Mr. Mitchell's visit to Washington was by invitation of President Roosevelt, who asked him to come to Washington in order that they might discuss the terms of the propositions submitted to the President last Monday night by the anthracite coal railroad presidents.

While all persons having knowledge of the details of the conference are extremely reticent, enough is known to justify the statement that while they did not accomplish a settlement of the strike they at the same time were not barren of tangible results.

A Counter Proposition.

At the conclusion of the first conference Mr. Mitchell walked over to the Treasury Department, where for two hours he remained closeted with Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration, in the latter's office. It is believed that at the conclusion of this conference Mr. Mitchell had formulated a statement akin to a counter proposition to that made by the operators. This he later presented to the President, going directly from Mr. Sargent's office to the White House at 3 o'clock for that purpose.

Roosevelt to Have Free Hand.

While no authorized statement of the counter-proposition could be obtained, it can be stated on excellent authority that Mr. Mitchell, in criticism of the proposition of the operators, took exception to the disparagement of the Miners' Union and to the limitation of the time in which, under the proposed agreement, there is to be no strike. His particular objection, however, was to the insistence of the mine owners, that they should be permitted to designate the classes from which the arbitrators should be drawn by the President. It is understood that he took a firm stand against this proposition, saying he was satisfied the miners would not submit to any arbitration which should not be arbitration in fact as well as in name.

Miners Appear Satisfied.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 15.—The miners who would discuss the arbitration plan at all, to-day were generally averse to its acceptance, but, as in all other things, satisfied to do whatever President Mitchell thought best. There was a strong hope prevalent among the people at large that President Roosevelt would show Mitchell that despite the limitations regarding the selection of the arbitration commission, a fair, just and impartial tribunal could be selected, and that President Mitchell would be induced to favor the acceptance of the proposition by an assurance from President Roosevelt that he would see to it that the miners' interests would be cared for in the selecting of the commission.

There is no denying that a quiet feeling exists among a good proportion of the strikers favorable to acceptance of the proposition, even though it is not all that the United Mine Workers would have it to be. As one miner put it, "we've been asking for arbitration. Now we've got it. There may be some few flaws to the proposition, but we can't expect to get everything we want."

The North German Gazette, in an official note, announces that as for reasons already stated the audience of the Boer generals with Emperor William had been abandoned, no notice will be taken officially of their presence in Berlin.

THE COAL STRIKE FINALLY SETTLED.

Common Ground of Agreement Reached by Operators and Miners—Work to Be Resumed at Once.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The strike is settled. Secretary Root announced at 1 o'clock that a common ground of agreement had been reached. The President has named a commission of six persons to settle the strike.

The first sign of a breakup of the conference was at 12:55, when Secretary Cortelyou came from the conference room and announced to the waiting newspaper men that an official statement on the strike situation would be made public in about a half hour. Shortly after 1 o'clock Secretary Root came out laughing and happy and spread the glad tidings that a common ground of agreement between the operators and the miners had been reached and that the strike was practically ended. It was learned a few moment later that the chief feature of the agreement was the addition of a sixth member to the arbitration commission, the surmise following as a matter of course that the additional member would be more particularly a representative of labor. It was said at the same time that now an agreement had been arrived at as to the means of determining the differences that the President would insist on an immediate resumption of work at the mines and that he had reason to expect his advice would be followed very promptly. Messrs. Bacon and Perkins, partners in Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's banking firm, were present at the final conference as the representatives of the operators. When the gathering broke up, all present were in good humor and there was a general exchange of congratulations.

The President has appointed the members of the commission to inquire into, consider and pass upon all questions at issue between the operators and miners in the anthracite coal fields as follows:

Brigadier General John M. Wilson, United States Army retired, (late chief of engineers, U. S. A.)

Mr. E. W. Parker, Washington, D. C., as an expert mining engineer. Mr. Parker is chief statistician of the coal division of the United States geological survey.

Hon. George Gray, Wilmington, Del., as a judge of a United States court.

Mr. E. E. Clark, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, grand chief of the Order of Railroad Conductors—as a sociologist.

Mr. Thomas H. Watkins, Scranton, Pa., as a man practically acquainted with the mining and selling of coal.

Bishop John L. Spaulding, of Peoria, Ill.

Hon. Carroll D. Wright has been appointed recorder of the commission.

President Mitchell.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 15.—President Mitchell arrived here from Washington at 1:35 this morning. The Associated Press bulletins of the outcome of the Washington conference that the strike was settled were read to him while he was surrounded by a small army of newspaper men. He was immediately congratulated and in reply for a statement, he said:

"Your congratulations should be withheld until we see who the six representatives on the commission are. I understood before I left Washington that there would be a sixth man and that he would represent labor. The whole matter will be placed before the joint meeting of the three executive boards of the anthracite region at their meeting at 10 o'clock this morning. I will wait up to see the full statement issued by Mr. Cortelyou."

In reply to the question if he would comply with the President's request that coal mining be resumed immediately, he said he would make a more definite answer when he knew more about the matter.

FAIR TRIAL PROMISED.

For the Self-Confessed Murderer of the Hicks Family.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NACOGDOCHES, TEX., Oct. 15.—A preliminary trial will be granted Jim Buchanan, the self-confessed murderer of the Hicks family, next Tuesday, and the negro will be brought here for trial. Five hundred men of this county have guaranteed a fair trial and protection. The concensus of opinion, however, is that the military or State rangers must be sent here to prevent his execution by the mob.

Orders will be issued by the War Department to-day directing that the regular army be reduced to the minimum size authorized by law, 59,600 men. With the practical cessation of outbreaks in the Philippines, it is believed that this can be done safely. The present size of the army is about 67,000 men.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN VENEZUELA.

The Battle Began Monday With the Advance Guard of the Revolutionists.

ODDS ARE AGAINST CASTRO.

Both Sides Heavily Reinforced—Fighting Resumed Tuesday and Continued on Wednesday--The Revolutionary Army Numbers 8,000 Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—United States Minister Bowen, at Caracas, has cabled the State Department, asking that one or perhaps two more warships be sent to reinforce the gunboat Marietta, at LaGuayra, in view of the present critical situation which has arisen at the Venezuelan capital. Some time ago when President Castro left his capital, Minister Bowen expressed to the State Department his fears that an occupation of the capital by the revolutionary forces would result in rioting and pillage, and be attended with great danger to unprotected foreigners. Such a situation it is inferred here is again imminent. It is probable that either the Panther, now at Colon, or the Cincinnati, in Haytien waters, will be ordered from her present station and sent to the Venezuelan capital.

The following cablegram received at the State Department this morning from Minister Bowen, dated last night at Caracas, shows the critical condition of affairs in the field: "The army is still near Valencia. No particulars obtainable. Valencia closely surrounded and battle going on now."

General Matos, leader of the revolution, and General Mendoza were not present. The only rebel generals engaged were Guevara, Torres, Crespo and Antonio Fernandez, who had with them about 3,100 men, representing the advance guard of the revolutionists.

President Castro twice led a charge in person and showed great courage and coolness. His lieutenant, General Alcantara, who was at one time at the West Point military academy, was mortally wounded.

The arrival at the scene of battle at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon of Vice President Gomez and eight hundred men, with a large amount of ammunition saved the situation for the government. At that time the odds were largely against President Castro but the arrival of reinforcements improved his position. Monday night the revolutionists still retained their positions.

The fighting started again Tuesday and at 10 o'clock in the morning Castro retired to La Victoria. At 1 o'clock the fighting ceased on both sides.

News of the engagement having reached Generals Matos and Mendoza, they hastened to the scene and arrived at a point near LaVictoria yesterday with the rest of the revolutionary army, which now numbers about 8,000 men. The reinforcements under Matos and Mendosa intended to take part in the renewal of hostilities today.

President Castro appears to be surrounded by his enemies. The town of El Consejo, which lies back of La Victoria, is occupied by the revolutionists.

Valencia is believed to be doomed. The town was attacked by General Riera on Monday and Tuesday. Those who were wounded in the fighting are still without medical assistance or care. They lie on the battlefield as they fell and the scene there is one of great horror.

WILLEMSTAD Oct. 15.—News has reached here that the battle near La Victoria, Venezuela, between the forces of President Castro and the Venezulan revolutionists, which began Monday morning, has so far been without definite result. Only a portion of the revolutionists was engaged. The government cannot obtain reinforcements from Caracas, as the railroad from there to Valencia is in the hands of the enemy. The fighting was resumed yesterday.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

Southern Association in Session in Hot Springs—Important Recommendations Made and Adopted.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., October 15.—At to-day's session of the Southern Association of Railroad Commissioners, J. D. McInniss, of Mississippi, presented the report of the uniform classification committee, which held that it was difficult to arrange a schedule satisfactory to all sections of the country and all interests. The report was received and Committeeman A. L. May, of Mississippi, offered a resolution to the effect that the commission recommend to the Congress of the United States the passage of an act requiring the interstate commerce commission to adopt a uniform class of freight articles, providing for a time in which such class shall be made and when the same shall take effect. After a prolonged debate the resolution was passed by a large majority.

Judge J. H. Reagan's motion, that the convention recommend to the several States the passage of laws to control and limit the issue of stocks and bonds of railways to an amount not to exceed the actual value of the property and franchises of each road, was unanimously adopted.

Chairman May, of the committee on delays in enforcing orders of railroad commissions, after making his report, presented a resolution asking the national Congress to pass an act authorizing and requiring Federal courts to treat all cases arising under and by virtue of laws creating railroad commissions, whether State or interstate, wherein the public interests are involved, as "preference cases" and as such that they be entitled to be placed at the head of the docket and to be speedily and promptly heard. Adopted.

BULGARIAN TROUBLE.

Turkish Government Claims to Have Suppressed the Outbreak.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 15.—It is declared in government circles that the Bulgarian revolutionary bands have everywhere been defeated and that after a sharp engagement in the Krezna defile between a force of Turkish troops and insurgents, the Bulgarians were dislodged and dispersed. The Porte understands that the Bulgarian government has finally decided to suppress the Macedonian committee.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE ON THE COAL STRIKE.

Feeling in Administration Circles That Mr. Mitchell is Too Stiff in His Position and Too Insistent.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.--President Roosevelt to-night resumed consideration of the strike situation, taken it up in the light developed as the result of his two conferences during the day with Mr. Mitchell, President of the Mine Workers Union. He went out for a long drive after those conferences and on returning met Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, and Mr. Sargent, commissioner of immigration. Later, two men, strangers to those about the temporary White House, called and were shown up stairs at once. It was reported that these gentlemen were Robert Bacon and George W. Perkins, members of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Company. The conferences with the gentlemen named lasted from 7 to 8 o'clock, when the President went to Secretary Hay's for dinner:

About 10 o'clock President Roosevelt entered the White House, accompanied by Secretary Root, and they immediately re-embarked on consideration of the settlement of the coal strike. Later a stranger called answering the description of one of Mr. Morgan's partners. At 11:30 o'clock the three gentlemen were still engaged in a discussion of the situation. The statements made by Mr. Mitchell were canvassed. While nothing was made public the feeling seems to prevail in administration quarters close to the President that Mr. Mitchell is too stiff in his position and too insistent, and that matters have been so shaped that he should accept the concessions that are open to him.

At 12:30 o'clock the White House conference was still progressing. Apparently there is a purpose to clear up differences as far as practicable and bring about the speediest possible solution of the strike.

HAYTI'S REVOLUTION.

Port of St. Marc Occupied by Troops of the Government.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, HAYTI, Oct. 15.—The port of St. Marc, not being able to continue resisting the army of the provisional government, solicited the intervention of the diplomatic corps here, which was accorded and resulted in the capitulation of that place. The government troops immediately afterward occupied the city without any disorder.
